

Dear America, Love Arizona

[Image description: Five postcards that all say “Greetings from Arizona with love” flanking a large body of text. Two postcards at the top right show a photograph of a person standing inside a vast, narrow canyon of red rock and a drawing of a panoramic desert view with mountains in the background and cacti in the foreground. Two postcards on the bottom left show a photograph looking from the base of a pine tree up its’ trunk towards the sky and a photo of a classic car parked in an old gas station. The final postcard in the bottom right shows a white horse galloping through the desert.

Dear America, Love Arizona invites people across Arizona to write postcards sharing what they love about our state, its role in our country’s history and their hopes for America’s future. As part of the America250 celebration, these voices help tell Arizona’s story in their own words.

We want to hear YOUR story.

Take a postcard. Write your message. Drop it in the mailbox.
